Editorial:

The problem can be easily solved using hash tables. Construct hash table corresponding to the array and for each query check if the number exist in the table or not. The query can be done in O(1) time.